Banker 12L is a bull we selected to use for his great phenotype and low birth to high weaning abilities.

He was a standout in the pasture as well as in the bull pen.

He really puts a great look into his bulls and the heifers are very feminine, broody looking heifers.

We chose Bloodline 40L for a herdsire candidate for his sheer mass and power and weaning capability.

His Pathfinder dam also produced Heinz Spur, a very well known herdsire for us, and Triumph 10K. She instills the power, docility and sound structure into her progeny that are right for the times.

EPD DEFINITIONS

CE: Calving Ease Direct EPD - describes the percentage of expected unassisted births when a bull is exposed to first-time heifers. The higher the number, the higher the probability that first-time heifers bred to the bull in question will calve with no assistance. The EPD predicts the average difference in ease with which a sire's calves will be born when he is bred to first-calf heifers.

BW: Birth Weight EPD - describes in pounds the difference in expected progeny weight, on average. A bull with a BW EPD of +4 will, on average, sire calves 2 pounds heavier than a bull with a BW EPD of +2 (given equal management).

WW: Weaning Weight EPD - describes in pounds the difference in expected weaning weight in progeny, on average. WW EPD is a predictor of a sire's ability to transmit weaning growth to his progeny compared to that of other sires. A bull with a WW EPD of +50 will sire calves that are, on average, 20 pounds heavier at weaning than a sire with a WW EPD of +30 (given equal management).

YW: Yearling Weight EPD describes in pounds the difference in expected yearling weight in progeny, on average. YW EPD is a predictor of a sire's ability to transmit post weaning growth to his progeny compared to that of other sires. A bull with a YW EPD of +100 will sire calves that are, on average, 30 pounds heavier at weaning than a sire with a WW EPD of +70 (given equal management).

MILK: Milk EPD - describes, in pounds, the portion of a calf's weaning weight attributed to milk and mothering ability. On average, daughters from a bull with a Milk EPD of +20 will contribute 5 pounds more to their calves' weaning weight than the daughters of a bull with Milk EPD of +15. Milk EPD is a threshold trait that should be maintained at a moderate level dependent on the management and environment of the herd.

Make sure to find this stud. what a bull. I genuinely think this guy has as much potential as any bull in the offering for his age. If you like cattle that are wide based, big middled and big topped than this is your bull. His dam produced a ripper of a bull that sold through last year's sale as well. His dam is a moderate, soggy Renown daughter.

The Black Angus bulls offered by Heinz Cattle Co. are raised in the tough southern Alberta hills, where structural integrity, soundness, and durability are not optional—they are required.

These bulls are developed on a high-protein, moderate-energy ration designed to support muscle development, proper growth, and maturity without sacrificing longevity or mobility. Careful attention is paid to rumen health and overall balance to ensure the bulls stay athletic and ready to go to work.

A fully chelated mineral package supports fertility, immune function, and long-term performance, helping these bulls' transition seamlessly into real-world commercial environments.

This nutrition and development program reflects the same philosophy as the cattle themselves—functional, efficient, and built to last. Bid with confidence
